

Uplands Preparatory School

Code of Conduct

On the entry of a pupil into Uplands, both pupil and parents become members of the Uplands Family. It is the aim of Uplands that each pupil should derive lasting benefit from this membership. It is not always easy for a young pupil to realize that, on becoming a member of this Community, the Community depends on the pupil for its well being and the pupil depends on the community for enriching him socially, intellectually, physically and spiritually.

The welfare of each pupil is the concern of all, and the welfare of all should be the concern of each pupil. The behaviour of our pupils both in and outside the School affects the reputation of the School. We are fortunate to have pupils here who have given us a reputation for good manners, self-reliance, common sense and sensitivity to the needs of others. This is to be both commended and encouraged.

It is clear that in most cases the School influence and the home influence are working together in the same direction to achieve this objective. It would be counter-productive for these two influences to be opposed and we therefore believe that any behaviour after School hours, during the holidays or at half term, which may bring discredit to the School, becomes our concern.

In order to clarify our position on what we expect from our pupils we issue each pupil with a "Code of Conduct" which pupils and parents are asked to understand and sign.
